AI

AI is the Baseline, Not the Differentiator

AI is now table stakes. In 2026, the gap isn't who is using AI — it's how well they're using it. This report shows how top marketers are operationalizing AI to improve speed, insight, and personalization, while avoiding the pitfalls of low-quality, over-automated output.

Trust

Human-Led Marketing Wins Trust (and Revenue)

creativity to create marketing that actually resonates.

“Today, more content is generated by AI than by humans. But it's mostly average. Consumers seek human-created content, and will tune out brand and AI-generated content. Content will move to gated spaces that AI hasn't overrun, like newsletters, podcasts, and YouTube. Learning to craft content is a timeless skill. Don't follow the masses and outsource that to AI.”
